In her work, "L'Homme-loup et la branche magique" mixed-media artist Francoise LaMothe uses tree branches, moss, mushrooms, discarded metal in combination with her drawing to depict the relations that exist between the natural and material world.

LaMothe is in her final year of Painting and Drawing in the BFA programme.

Tracey Briscoe –12:30 - 1:00

'Of Forests Past' is a sculptural piece of short tree trunks created from ceramic slip, that reflect on the future of our environment. A sculptor and performance artist, Briscoe explores the layered relationship of the natural world and human-kind.

Briscoe is a part-time student in the Studio Arts programme, majoring in Ceramics.
